THAT HONEYMOON
BY DOUGLAS MALLOCH
A honeymoon we meant to take;
We never took it, did we though?
Mountain or ocean, woods or lake,
Somehow we always meant to go,
Somewhere we always meant to see,
Somewhere that now will never be.
There wasn't anyone to blame;
We meant to save, we started to;
But times were poor, the children came,
An other things we had to do.
Youth went so fast, age came so soon
We never had that honeymoon.
And yet I wonder? Maybe we
Who never went so very far,
Who never got across the sea,
Nor westward where the wonders are,
We may have had, who never roam,
A sweeter honeymoon at home.
We never walked a castle wall,
We never passed a palace door,
To make our cottage seem too small
Or wealth a thing to hunger for,
No, never far afield we went,
But stayed at home and were content.
We know but little of foreign lands,
But, oh, how well we know our own!
We made this garden with our hands,
In every wall, laid every stone,
However far men's flags unfurled,

Here was our harbor, here our world.
That honeymoon we meant to take,
Perhaps we had, and did not see.
A lot of wealth I didn't make;
But I had you, and you had me,
Some other lives grow dull so soon,
But ours was all a honeymoon.

They will play for another dance tonight at the Cumberland and tomorrow night they will play for a dance at the Country Club for club members and guests only.

Mission Study Class Meets
The Mission Study Class of the M. E. Church, South, met in the church parlors at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The meeting was opened with the singing of "He Leadeth Me." The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. P. M. Parsons and Mrs. G. W. Pridmore offered a prayer. Mrs. Bruce More gave news from the Bulletin. Mrs. J. H. McGiboney reviewed the chapter from "The Child and America's Future," the book which the class is studying. A short business session followed the program and the meeting was then dismissed with prayer by Mrs. D. Z. Gibson.

Variety Home Grown Products On Market
Continued warm weather is bringing in home grown vegetables and other products to the local markets and the "shipped" produce is being crowded out.
Green apples, potatoes, beans, beets and other country produce may now be procured from the local grocers as fresh as when plucked from the garden or farm. Though the bean beetles have been exacting their toll this year, they have not had the devastating effects on the beans that resulted from their visit last year, as the quantity and the low price indicate.

Germans Seek Music Lessons In England

By Associated Press.
COLOGNE, June 26.—Germans make player pianos in large numbers, but mostly for export, and admit they do not know how to play them successfully. In the hope of creating a home market, certain interested persons have arranged for an English expert on these instruments to give a series of concerts in the bigger cities. Music teachers are correspondingly dismayed.

2 PRIZE FIGHTS JULY 4 FEATURES

Tiger Toro, One of the South's Leading Boxers—Regulation Ring Being Built.

Tiger Toro, Tennessee welterweight champion who will meet Tot Wilson in the ring here on July Fourth is expected to be one of the leading boxers of the South. The rivals will meet for the second time in Middlesboro, each hoping to best the other in the going rounds on the tenth round. The other time that they fought was in Spartanburg, S. C., the result being a draw in that contest.

The ten rounds they will fight—if both fighters last that long—will be of three minutes each. A regulation ring, measuring eighteen feet square inside the ropes, is now under construction at the East End athletic park.

Following the big fight will be eight rounds of fast and furious scrapping by Jack Darcy and Kid Perkins, lightweights who have already won a name in the ring. This, though secondary to the other fight, promises to be a lively entertainment to sport-lovers.

Toro has a long list of fights and victories. It will be remembered that he once fought young Stripling and that he held this enterprising Southerner to a draw. J. W. Smith, who is in charge of arrangements for the coming fight, tied the first gloves on Toro when he began his pugilistic career. Mr. Smith states that, in addition to being a fighter, Toro is an all-around good fellow.

BOOSTER RALLY AT TAZEWELL

Enthusiastic Crowd of Claiborne Countians Greet Ex-Servicemen.

Apparently everybody in Claiborne county was at the ex-service men's rally staged by the advertising committee of this branch of the Fourth of July celebration at Tazewell and New Tazewell last night.

All were enthusiastic over the prospects of a big day in Middlesboro and promises of attendance were practically unanimous. Particularly were the men interested in the two big prize fights and the baseball game which may be seen here on that day for a single admission fee.

R. L. Maddox, Arthur Rhoter and J. W. Smith were speakers which advertised the event. The crowd of boosters was accompanied by the local orchestra which had come on a truck through a drenching rain to inspire the audience with their music.

A similar rally will be staged at Pineville tonight. Russ Hill is billed as the speaker for the occasion. The orchestra which has done such splendid work in the advertising campaign will accompany the boosters.

No Tent Amusements In Middlesboro Now

For the first time in many weeks Middlesboro is free from outside tented amusements. The skating ring left several days ago for parts of Virginia and the merry-go-round has chosen other places for summer business. So far as is known, no similar attractions or tent shows have been booked for Middlesboro.

There was some discussion of retaining the merry-go-round as a drawing card for the Fourth of July celebration but, it is understood, the plans have been abandoned. There were some concessions which went with the attraction and the promoters of the holiday celebration did not look with favor upon these.

Aeroplane Stunts To Be July 4 Feature

Aeroplane stunts will be a feature of the Middlesboro Fourth of July celebration that every one may see and enjoy. Rudolph Wells has contracted with a Knoxville aeroplane office for two planes for the holiday. Besides all kinds of aerial spins, glides and other stunts which thrill the public there will be a parachute jump from an aeroplane. The aeroplanes will carry passengers, furnishing rides with or without the stunts.

REASONS FOR SIGNIFICANCE OF "THE FIGHTING BLADE"

Our own war for independence, our revolution against King George III, of England, is undoubtedly the most significant period of our history. It marked the birth of our republic. A like period in English history is that which marked the birth of the British, the period of the "Fighting Blade," a First World War picture, starring Richard Barthelmess and which Manning Theatre will present Friday, is laid. The picture is for that reason significant. Again, "The Fighting Blade" is the only story of the Cromwellian era which has ever been filmed. Incidentally, the producers have taken no liberties in matters of detail and the student of history will find no anachronisms in the production. The settings, the costumes, the furnishing, the manners and customs were reproduced only after the most thorough and diligent research had been undertaken. Another reason for the significance of the picture.

Oliver Cromwell was leader of the Parliamentary Party which chafed at their lack of voice in government. Charles I was king. He disclaimed the Parliamentarians and vested power in the Cavalier Party, as the lords, or royalists, were known. Cromwell led a revolution and, from 1642 through 1649, civil war was waged in England, ending with the execution of Charles I. Four years later Cromwell was made Lord Protector of England. And he established the foundations for the present popular government.

"The Fighting Blade" depicts one of the most dramatic episodes of the historic conflict, reciting the exploits and the romance of the valorous Kerstenbroeck (played by Richard Barthelmess), a Flemish soldier of fortune who gained fame as the most deadly duelist in all Europe and who by circumstances was drawn to the people's side in their fight for the right to govern themselves, and who paved the way for Cromwell's success. The picture unfolds a story which, even without its historic background would be a tremendously fascinating entertainment. In addition to the star, the cast includes Dorothy Mackall, Frederick Burton, Morgan Wallace, Lee Baker, Bradley Barker, Stuart Sage, Allyn King and others—a sterling cast in an unusually worthy and worthwhile picture.

BEGIN WORK ON EXETER TODAY

To Have Asphalt Street to 26th—Reconstruction of Avenue to Be Reconstructed.

Construction work on Exeter avenue began at the intersection of Twenty-third street this morning. From there to Twenty-sixth street will be graded, a concrete base laid and an asphalt surface applied.

The street will be made thirty feet wide to Twenty-seventh street. This will make necessary the building of new curbs as the street at present along there is forty feet in width.

From Twenty-sixth street westward the street will be reconstructed; the present surface will be sacrificed, the macadam rolled and an asphalt surface applied. From Twenty-seventh street westward the street will be cut down to twenty feet in width.

Being the road to the Junction and the street used more than any except those in the main sections of town, the rebuilding of Exeter avenue is an important step in Middlesboro street improvements. From Twenty-third street westward it has long been badly in need of repair, having become worn and full of holes.
